Cambios de actitud de los anunciantes hacia los influencers negros después del movimiento Black Lives Matter

Jessica Joseph, quien dirige una agencia de influencers británica con una base de talentos diversa, dice que notó un cambio de actitud de los anunciantes en la cima del movimiento Black Lives Matter (BLM).

"Hubo un gran período en el que trabajamos con marcas y lo hicieron consistentemente. Realmente querían voces negras", dice.

Ahora, el contacto ha cesado. "No ni siquiera recibimos una respuesta a nuestros correos electrónicos. No ni siquiera la cortesía de un no."

Beneficios desiguales en la industria de influencers

Los influencers son la clase celebridad de la era de las redes sociales y, para muchas personas, parecen tener el trabajo soñado: viajes extranjeros, ropa llamativa, cenas elegantes, relacionándose con viejas estrellas – y todo por dinero.

Pero los beneficios no se distribuyen por igual. Preocupaciones de larga data sobre la desigualdad salarial dentro de la industria no se están abordando, según un informe de este mes, con influencers blancos que en promedio ganan más del 50% que algunos de sus contrapartes BAME. Joseph, quien dirige Season25, una agencia de influencers que promueve la diversidad en su lista, dice que el interés en sus clientes ha "cambiado" desde que BLM alcanzó su punto máximo en 2024-21.

Origen étnico Promedio de pago por video patrocinado en Instagram

Sureste asiático	£700
Sur asiático	£1,135
Negro	£1,080
Este asiático	£1,010
Blanco	£1,638

El informe de la agencia SevenSix con sede en el Reino Unido muestra que los influencers de ascendencia del sureste asiático ganan un promedio de £700 por video patrocinado en Instagram, un 57% menos que el promedio de £1,638 para los influencers blancos. Los influencers de ascendencia sur asiática, negra y este asiática también ganan cantidades más bajas, con un promedio de £1,135, £1,080 y £1,010, respectivamente.
