Open Your Range

Because six-handed play essentially eliminates early positions, you should widen your range.

At a nine-handed table, the first three 5 positions to act preflop – Under-the-Gun, UTG+1 and UTG+2 – are considered early position. Players should open from these positions 5 only with premium hands (AJ suited or higher, pocket Ts or higher).

When there are only six players seated, however, chances 5 for strong opening hands are reduced. Premium hands (A-K, A-Q, pocket Aces, Kings, Queens or Jacks,) occur only 2.1% of 5 the time (56 combinations out of a possible 2,652). So at a 6-Max table, one of these hands will show 5 up roughly once per eight hands dealt. If you're waiting for one of these to open, you'll be in for 5 a long wait.

With only six players at the table, aces and middle pocket pairs are worth much more. Expanding your 5 opening range to include pocket 6s and above, any ace down to A-7, any Broadway combination (e.g. any combination of 5 cards T or above) and all suited aces will give you 228 total opening hands for an opening range of 5 the top 8.6% of hands, which is still conservative in 6-Max. You can also add suited connectors and one-gappers, especially 5 from later positions.

Why A-7?

With nine players dealt into a hand, the odds of any player having an ace are around 5 83%. Moreover, if you are dealt an ace in a nine-handed game, the odds another player also has an ace 5 are around 69%. This means that for every 1,000 times you are dealt an ace, you will have the only 5 ace 310 times on average, and there will be at least one more ace in the other 690 hands.

With an 5 A-7

against one other player with an ace, you would have the highest kicker 41% of the time, so in 5 those 690 hands, you would be ahead of the other player with an ace 283 times. Combine these statistics and 5 your A-7 would be ahead593 times in 1,000 hands against other aces or no aces (note that this analysis doesn't 5 include pocket pairs).

With six players dealt into a hand, the odds of a player having an ace drop to 66%. If you have an ace in a six-handed game, the odds are 50% that another player does. For every 1,000 5 times you receive an ace, you would have the only ace 500 times. In the other 500 hands, you would 5 have the highest kicker 205 times with your 7, meaning A-7 would be ahead 705 times out of 1,000, or 5 19% higher than in a nine-handed game (again, this does not include pocket pairs, only high cards).

Middle Pocket

Pairs

Middle pocket 5 pairs (7s through 9s) also become more valuable. The odds another player has a higher pocket pair are reduced dramatically 5 when playing six-handed. If you have pocket 7s at a nine-handed table, the odds are 24.6% that another player has 5 a higher pocket pair. In other words, one in every four times you have pocket sevens you will be dominated 5 by a player with a higher pocket pair.

At a six-handed table, however, the odds another player has a higher pocket 5 pair are reduced to 16.1% – a drop of 52.7 percent. For pocket 9s, the odds drop from 18.3% to 5 11.7%, or a 56.4% reduction.

Chance of another player having a higher pocket pair

Your Pocket Pair

	9-Handed	6-Handed	Difference
6-6	24.7%	5 18.0%	52.2%
7-7	24.6%	16.1%	52.8%
8-8	21.4%	13.9%	54.0%
9-9	18.3%	11.7%	56.4%

This analysis does not take overcards into 5 account, but does show that mid-range pocket pairs are more valuable pre-flop when playing six-handed.

Calling Preflop

Some players believe calling a 5 preflop raise is a bad move, and that you should always either fold or re-raise. Fight fire with fire. They've 5 probably not played a lot of 6-Max.

Calling preflop, especially if you have position over the aggressor, is a solid play 5 in 6-Max if you are playing a hand from the bottom of your range or a speculative hand like suited 5 connectors or one-gappers. There is a good chance the player before you has opened wider than normal, so it makes 5 sense to take a chance to see if you can connect with a flop as well, especially if the price 5 is right.

Calling will also help you avoid some dangerous situations preflop. The propensity for some players to be overly aggressive 5 in 6-Max could force you to make many more big preflop decisions than you would face in a nine-handed game.
