Bwin has stolen my money

Bwin has stolen my money. Here is how, and why you should not transfer any money 3 to these fraudulent scammers.

In July, I opened an account and made two transfers of 15€ in total. I made two 3 bets, one of which was successful in October.

The balance slightly increased.

When I tried to login to my account again, 3 it displayed a window with my personal details but refused to let me go further. I contacted the help chat 3 and was told I would receive an email with assistance.

Two days later, having received no email, I tried to log 3 in again and received a message saying my account had been closed.

I contacted their customer service by email. They replied 3 that the account was closed due to a major error by them. They asked me to provide my bank details, 3 which I did.

They then wrote back to say they now need a bank statement in pdf form!

I suspect they have 3 been hacked by scammers.

They have all my account details: I transferred them money from my account in the first place!

Be 3 careful and do not engage in this scam!

After completing the takeover of Chelsea last May, co-controlling owners Todd Boehly and Clearlake Capital wanted to make a splash in the transfer market, partly to show fans their level of ambition but also to signal they would be as aggressive as former owner Roman Abramovich was in pursuing top talent.

Acting as interim sporting director amid wholesale changes at executive level, Boehly met with a large number of agents and clubs as he devised a strategy which would eventually lead the club spending over €600 million to sign 17 players. Perhaps "strategy" is too generous a word to use. It has felt haphazard, scattergun and chaotic at times, almost from the beginning when relations quickly became strained between Boehly and the head coach he inherited, Thomas Tuchel.

Sources have told ESPN that after meeting with agent Jorge Mendes last summer, Boehly became fixated with the idea of bringing a 37-year-old Cristiano Ronaldo to Chelsea from Manchester United. The idea was presented to Tuchel, who rejected it on the basis of Ronaldo's age and that the Portugal international's inability or reluctance to press was at odds with the profile of striker he preferred. But that was not the end of the matter. Boehly raised the possibility of signing Ronaldo on several further occasions, much to Tuchel's mounting frustration.

The issue became a major bone of contention between the pair; one aspect of a deteriorating relationship which eventually led to Tuchel's sacking in early September. And, with this in mind, reports that Chelsea are tracking Neymar's situation at Paris Saint-Germain -- with sources telling ESPN's Julien Laurens that both he and the club are open to an exit -- should raise alarm bells.
